

Session 5

Introduction to screening

Screening for a disease or diseases means examining or checking a person for that disease, or their risk of developing it. For coronary heart disease, the measurements you can check that affect your risk are:

